DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wittenbrink et al. (WO 97/147769).

Art Unit: 1764

Wittenbrink discloses a process for producing a distillate comprising at least 95 wt.% of paraffins with an isoparaffins to normal paraffins ratio of about 0.3 to 3.00. The isoparaffins are mainly mono methyl branched. The distillate has a boiling of from 250 to 500° F. See page 5, paragraphs 3-5; page 6, paragraphs 3-5; example 7.

Wittenbrink does not specifically disclose that the distillate cut comprises more than 50 mass % paraffins lighter than C₁₆.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the process of Wittenbrink by obtaining a distillate from fraction comprising paraffins lighter than C₁₆ because it is within the level of one of skill in the art to separating the product into different cuts including a cut that contains paraffins lighter than C₁₆ to meet certain characteristics.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 1-23, in the reply filed on April 15, 2005 is acknowledged.
